

Homework 1

Code Smells

In this homework, you are given a simple program to support the management of a movie rental place (see attachments).

1. You are required to identify 20 instances of code smells in that program.
You may find multiple instances for the same types of code smell.
2. Please refer to the piece of code for each instance and provide your short explanation on why that piece of code has code smell(s).
3. It is ok to identify the code smells other than the smells listed in the lecture slides.